To Advertisers.—The VERMONT DAILY TRANSCRIPT has the largest circulation in St. Albans and in Franklin County, of any daily paper, and is on that account, if no other, the best medium for advertising.

Local Items.

Interesting matter, original or selected, may always be found on the first page.

OUR DAILY.—Those wishing to secure copies of our daily paper can do so at Merrifield's and Baker's bookstores, as well as of carriers, and at the office. Copies of our weekly paper may also be had at these places.

THE party of Good Templars which went on the excursion to Highgate Springs to-day numbered about 150, and no doubt, with a fine day and the Brigade Band, and plenty of boats for a lake excursion, enjoyed their trip well.

A PLEASANT PARTY.—The house and grounds of the Hon. W. C. Smith were brilliantly lighted last evening, and a large party of ladies and gentlemen from this and other places enjoyed the abundant hospitalities extended by himself and his estimable lady. The St. Albans Brigade Band was in attendance, and gave its choicest music, and all through the beautiful summer evening the guests enjoyed the pleasures of the occasion, so like a "midsummer night's dream" to their memory, and full of the social pleasures which go so far to satisfy a reasonable soul.

SINGULAR CASE.—On Monday morning, August 17, a Belvidere correspondent writes us, as Orrin Fletcher, a young man of Belvidere, about 21 years of age, formerly of the firm of Harbut & Fletcher, was returning home from the village, apparently as well as ever, he stopped to talk with his uncle, Andrew Fletcher, and while talking he was seized with a fit and fell from his wagon to the ground. He was taken up and carried into his uncle's house, where he had forty-six convulsions closely succeeding each other, and was insensible from that time till Wednesday morning, at 3 o'clock, when he died, apparently in great distress.

VERMONT CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The Central Railroad owns and are now running sixty locomotives. In addition to these, one is on the stocks and nearly completed at the shops of the company in St. Albans, and four of the "Taunton" make have been purchased recently to reinforce the motive power of the road. The company will increase this number with locomotives of their own make to seventy five as soon as possible. Their locomotives, during the months of June and July of this year, have run 33,000 miles in excess of the same months of 1867.

Forty-two passenger and sixteen baggage cars are owned, and are now in use by the company, and this number is being augmented by constant manufacture. About 1200 freight cars are owned by them and the number is being increased by the regular manufacture of six cars per month. In addition to the foregoing, an extra lot of 100 box-freight and fifty platform cars are to be added immediately. All of these cars are to be built at the shops of the company at St. Albans, which is now turning out two box cars or three platform cars per diem.

All freight cars of recent or present build are furnished with rubber springs, eight inches in length and nine inches in diameter, which, with the lateral motion that has been lately obtained by recent improvements, gives an ease of motion approximating to the passenger cars. These additions and improvements are made necessary by the constantly increasing business of the road.—Times.

Special Correspondence.

RUTLAND, Aug. 20, 1868.

EDITORS TRANSCRIPT:—At three o'clock this p. m., according to announcement, the Vermont Historical Society met in the vestry of the Congregational church. The Society was welcomed in behalf of the citizens by Henry Hall, Esq., of Rutland, in a very able address, in which, after recounting the events that had conspired to keep away the people of Rutland from the meeting, such as the rainy weather, sickness of some, absence of others on a pleasure excursion by the newly opened railroad route to Montreal and Ogdensburg, from which so much of material prosperity is hoped for, indifference to the objects of the Society among which is nowhere to be found a recipe for increasing material wealth, &c., he proceeded to give a summary of events in the history of the town and county, and of the origin of the name, replete with interest to all, whether residents of Rutland or otherwise. I cannot attempt to present an abstract of the address which was but an abstract in itself, of a long and patient and earnest research in a department in which Mr. Hall has long since distinguished himself.

The president of the society, Rev. Pliny H. White, of Coventry, very appropriately responded, and explained the specific design of the society in holding its meetings at various points to be the awakening of a more general interest in its objects, by extending its membership and collecting contributions of matter for its archives.

Ex-Governor Hiland Hall, of Bennington, read a historical paper of much interest, pertaining more particularly to that part of the early history of the State about which there is some diversity of opinion and much reason for doubt; another, and very conclusive evidence, to my mind, at least, that the gathering up of the fragments of history as inculcated and practiced by the Vt. Historical Society, is one of the first duties of every patriotic citizen.

I am reminded in this connection of a little incident, pertinent to this subject, which occurred this summer, in my own experience. A tin peddler drove, up to my door, when I observed sticking through a hole in one of his rag bags a peculiar bluish piece of paper. My curiosity was aroused, and overhauling his bag I found twelve numbers of the "Post Boy and Vermont and New Hampshire Courier," Windsor, Vt. 1805, printed and published by Nathan Mower, opposite Pettess' Coffee-House, a peculiarly valuable repository of State items of that period. I have made some little inquiry but do not learn of an entire set anywhere, indeed I do not learn that there are anywhere else in the State so many numbers as I saved from this one rag-bag. It cannot be doubted that among the old families of the State many such relics might be found, the value of which to future generations is incalculable.

Hon. Hampton Cutts, of Brattleboro, followed Gov. Hall, reading a very lengthy, and in some respects, interesting paper which had been prepared by Gen. John W. Phelps, of Brattleboro, who was unable to be present. Gen. Phelps is a close reasoner, and a fine writer, but in every sense extremely radical. Want of time and space will not permit in this place even a mention of his peculiarisms, but to those who have enjoyed his personal acquaintance for the last three or four years, it is only necessary to say that it is an embodiment of all his peculiar views of the past, the present, and the future, of all the nations of the earth.

Hon. Mr. Cutts, Dr. Folsom and others presented sundry books and pamphlets, after which several new members were elected and the society adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock when L. L. Dutcher, Esq., of St. Albans, read a very thoroughly studied, well condensed, and concisely expressed account of the career of the notorious smuggling boat Black Snake during the Embargo of 1808.

This paper full of rich matter for the historian and politician was received with great favor. The events connected with that tragic affair at one time threatened the entire disruption of society in Northwestern Vermont, and yet how very few of the inhabitants of the present day know anything of it.

Hon. Hampden Cutts followed Mr. Dutcher with a paper on the true objects of the Vermont Historical Society. I very much regret that my engagements are such that I cannot remain to the close of the meeting. The character of the papers promised for tomorrow must render that portion of the meeting intensely interesting and invaluable to the interests of the Society.

Rutland, although the name is classic ought to be rechristened Phoenix. All over the burnt district men are busy at work. There are two new hotels in process of erection—a much needed improvement, though it seems to me that a more practicable movement would be to improve on the method of keeping these they now have. Our friend Tuttle of the Head who has built up by far the largest business in the bank and stationery line in the state is building a new store adjoining the Head buildings, which he has lately been making practically fire-proof. I am admonished that it is time to go.

In haste, O. S. B.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—MAY MARTIN—Yes, somebody is digging for treasures on the corner of Thomas and Bank Streets. We presume it will result in a "Corporation Well." "All is well that ends well."

GAMSTER.—The political game now playing by the bolters is not "Bluff," but "Whistle Jack."

A very pretty piece of poetry has been sent us, but the author withholds her name. Hence it remains unpublished, according to our rule. Real names need not always be published with contributions, but they must be furnished as before we will publish. It is useless, therefore, for people to send matter for publication, unaccompanied with their real name and address.

A MASON.—Captain Kidd may have descended from a goat, but that did not make him a mason. There are different ways of descending.

FIREMAN.—Extinguishing inflamed shavings by fire companies is not necessarily per se of barbers, neither is a "little shaver" necessarily a small barber. See Webster.

Flotow, Jr.—The musical conjuration so often given to people to "listen to the mocking-bird" is only an European joke. Don't you listen.

CRIBBY.—Butter flies are not grown on vines in this locality. The season is too short for them to fully ripen. We do not know where seed can be got.

MASONIC.—Minerva Lodge No. 86, of F. and A. M., located at Corinth, was constituted in form and officers duly installed by the R. W. A. T. Clarke, District Deputy Grand Master. The ceremony was performed in presence of a goodly number of ladies. Able and interesting remarks were made by S. G. Heaton, Dr. Simpson, Dr. Gillett, and the Master elect, C. C. Sargent. They intend finishing a new hall for themselves in the Academy Building which will be dedicated as soon as finished.

The following are the officers: C. C. Sargent, W. M.; Geo. W. Hale, S. W.; R. Richardson, J. W.; Granville Powers, Sec.; John A. Tenney, Treas.; A. M. Carpenter, S. D.; Geo. Wasson, J. D.; J. H. Gilman, Steward; Mark H. Corwin, Chaplain; A. G. Mead, Tyler.

Causes.

The Republican Voters of the Town of St. Albans are requested to meet at Academy Hall on Monday, August 24, at 7 o'clock p. m., to nominate a candidate for Town Representative.

D. R. POTTER } Town

G. C. NOBLE }

A worthy deacon in a town somewhere in North America, gave notice at a prayer meeting that was to be held immediately after, and unconsciously added, "There is no objection to the female brethren remaining." Which reminds us of a clergyman who told in his sermon, one Sunday, of a very affecting scene, where there wasn't a dry tear in the house!

"Obtaining money under false pretenses"—vending miserable hair preparations. A trade that is fast dying out, however; for the universal popularity of "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" is rapidly putting a stop to such contraband traffic.—Richmond Enquirer.

Mr. Renne claims that the name "Magic Oil" is a "trade mark," and that any person who uses the name for a medicine do so at their peril, as much as though they stole any other property of his, besides their extra mercantile. The genuine Renne's Magic Pain Killing Oil is what the people want, and will have.

Found at last, a remedy that not only relieves, but cures that enemy of mankind, Consumption, as well as the numerous satellites which revolve around it in the shape of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Influenza, &c. The remedy we allude to is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, prepared by Seth W. Foulle & Son, Boston.

The excellent American Organ, manufactured by S. D. & H. W. Smith, Boston, used at the late convention, deserves an especial notice, a large double banked instrument of 14 stops, whose heavy sub-bass notes were distinctly heard above the whole chorus of 350 voices, while in accompanying the recitatives in the oratorios, the effect of the soft stops and tremolo were very striking. We notice that the use of these beautiful instruments is beginning to be appreciated by musical societies in the larger cities.—Burlington Free Press.
